

The National Women's Justice Coalition welcomes four new partners in May 2024

The National Women's Justice Coalition (NWJC) is pleased to welcome four new partners to its membership group in May 2024 including A Way Out, Daddyless Daughters, The Phoebe Centre and Tomorrow's Women.

Established in September 2021, the NWJC is dedicated to achieving social justice by driving transformative change within the criminal justice system (CJS) to reduce the stigmatisation of and improve outcomes for women and girls.

As of May 2024, the coalition's membership group now includes 26 partners, each expert in delivering trauma-informed, gender-responsive support through women's centres, women's prisons and women-only premises. NWJC partners also include national organisations providing specialist services to women in custody and the community.

The expansion and growth of the NWJC has been strategically agreed and coordinated by its partners to increase the coalition's national reach and to proactively seek engagement and representation from organisations and projects working with women and girls from racially minoritised and oppressed groups.

As a result of this expansion strategy, the NWJC has been proud and privileged to welcome seven new partners to its membership group in 2024, with three new partners joining the coalition in March, and a further four partners joining in May.

Collectively, NWJC partners believe that the contributions and expertise of these organisations will increase the coalition's credibility and capacity to deliver on its mission and strategic aims.

Find out more about the newest NWJC partners

A Way Out

A Way Out is an outreach and prevention charity which aims to engage and empower those who feel ignored, experience multiple disadvantage and are excluded, focusing specifically on women, young people and families to live lives free from harm, abuse and exploitation. A Way Out's work is informed by the values of love, hope and freedom and is trauma informed and gender responsive. The charity is proud to be recognised as the first organisation in the Northeast to have been awarded the Silver Trauma Quality Mark.

Daddyless Daughters

The Daddyless Daughters Project CIC provides physical and emotional safe spaces for girls and young women aged 11–25 years old, who have been affected by family breakdown, abuse and adversity. Daddyless Daughters' work is centred on research, lived experiences and therapeutic approaches providing one to one and group mentoring services, creative expression projects, community events, trauma informed training and educational workshops. The organisation aims to support vulnerable and marginalized girls and women in building healthy lifestyles and relationships free from the impact of childhood trauma and complex behavioural patterns.

The Phoebe Centre

Founded in 2008, The Phoebe Centre is an Ipswich-based charity committed to fighting violence against women, advocating for women's rights, and supporting women and girls to improve their quality of life through the provision of a holistic support service that meets multiple needs. As a specialist by and for organisation, Phoebe is run by Black, minoritised and migrant women for Black, minoritised and migrant women and children. It offers support to women who suffer from poverty, mental health issues, inaccessibility to public services, no recourse to public funds, a lack of educational and employment opportunities, and domestic abuse.

Tomorrow's Women

Tomorrow's Women is an award-winning charity based in Wirral and Chester that is led by women for women. The organisation was set up to work with women in or on the periphery of the criminal justice system by providing tailored interventions to prevent offending and support women to make positive lifestyle changes. Tomorrow's Women have a continued vision to support and empower women and girls from all backgrounds, facing any personal issues, to live equal and fulfilled lives.

For any queries, questions or for further information about the NWJC, please email info@weareNWJC.org.uk